THE NEW BUDDHIST
PROPAGANDA.

A few days ago we referred in this column to the Buddhist propaganda being carried on in China by the Japaneses. At first the teaching was confined to the north and middle of the Empire, but now it has spread to the southern provinces, and priests have already commenced enrolling followers. Our Amoy and Canton correspondents have both referred to the movement being in evidence in those ports, and we understand now that headquarters have been established in the latter city. Probably some of our readers are not greatly interested in this subject, but others are. Yet, within a reasonable time it may develop forces which will be far-reaching, and will be pregnant of results. Those who have interests in China will naturally regard the enterprise of the Japanese with suspicion, and when all is said and done, it might pay them to be watchful. There can be little doubt that the movement is, at least, partially political. It is part of the silent revolution now in progress, and well-informed Chinese do not hesitate to affirm that such is its ultimate aim. A translation of the leading ideas and purposes of this new church have been forwarded to us, and we give them in the belief that they will be of more than passing interest to many. They set out that (1) the name shall be the Monastery of the Pan Un of China. A site shall be secured in Canton, on which a college shall be built. Afterwards affiliated branches shall be opened all over China. (2) This Chinese monastery shall be affiliated to a certain monastery in Japan. All who conform to, and promulgate the new doctrine, shall rely upon the aid of the Japanese flag for protection. (3) Root principles shall be followed: the Paradise of Nirvana shall be held. Righteousness and kindness to all life shall be preached.

(4) The essential spirituality of Buddhism shall be taught, and its unchallen-geable principles be glorified. (5) The aim shall be the salvation of the world

by righteousness; Mercy and benevolence shall be the resting place of all. (6)

The different sections of the Buddhism in China shall be unified; moreover the many rules shall be renovated. (7) Civil officials, business men, military folk, as well as priests, if they keep the rules and conditions, shall be eligible for admission into the church. (8) There shall be a general and searching examination into the present condition of the Buddhist church in China. (9) Tolerance for believers is international law for all civilized countries. The aim of the church, therefore, is to benefit and save men by righteousness, and not to battle with, and attack the creeds of those who differ from us. (10) There shall be a determined effort to maintain universal principles and public law; the intention is to save the country and the age; all shall submit to the rules of the organization and not work unrighteousness. The following inscription, which has recently been written by an amateur, is to be seen over the door of the cool quarters, and is creating a good deal of mirth amongst Scotchmen who pass that way.

CORINTHIAN YACHT CLUB.
A meeting of members of the Corinthian Yacht Club will be held on Thursday next to consider the rules that have been drawn up. A programme of races for the season will also be submitted to members. Three boats have been launched for some time and two more are expected to take the water to-morrow.

GENERAL SPORT.

The world's record for 30 miles walking was broken on Saturday at the Crystal Palace, London, by F.B. Thompson. Seven competitors started, but only six finished; five of the six, however, broke the world's record of 8 hrs. 25 mins. 25 secs. The winner's time was 7 hrs. 57 mins. and 35 secs.

J. H. Derbyshire won the 100 yards Swimming Championship of England recently in 50 seconds. This is the sixth time that Derbyshire has won.

TREE-CUTTING AND RIFLE-SHOOTING.

A valued correspondent writes to us from Hong by last mail:—

"It is most satisfactory for old Hongkongites to see that the Colony has at last got an energetic and careful Governor. He seems to be going the right way to work to understand the Colony, its people and its wants. . . . He does not seem, however, to have quite got on sound lines as yet as regards reforestation. It is a blunder to destroy your fine forests some ten years before the proper time. Thinning should be done only on a small scale, and so far as I can learn, the damage that has already been done is a sad mistake. . . . One thing which might be referred to in this connection is the statement to the effect that the Hongkong pine is the tree which produces the China fir for building purposes. This is a gross mistake. The Governor ought not to allow any more tree felling except thinning, and that only sparingly. His Excellency should take independent expert advice, say from India, before permitting any more inconsiderate measures, whatever reasons for such destruction may be assigned. . . . By the way, what are the Hongkong rifle-shooters doing to have the Inter-Port Rifle Match for three years running? It seems to me they need some of the old spirit brought back to help them. A good working Committee and more backing up of the energetic and persevering Secretary are greatly wanted. That being secured, a revival of interest in rifle-shooting would soon follow."

HOW THE POLL TAX IS AVOIDED.

Chinese Immigration to Australia.

The hearing was commenced at the Magistrate yesterday of a case in which Wong Chuk Yau and Wong Tim were charged with defrauding Hau Tim of the sum of $850 and attempting to defraud the Chinese Navigation and Eastern and Australian Steamship Companies by obtaining from them passage tickets for Hau Tim to enable him to immigrate into A.W. The first defendant was further charged with the attempted forgery of an Australian Immigration certificate to avoid payment of the poll tax imposed by the Commonwealth of Australia. The Crown Solicitor, Mr. F. B. I. Bowley, conducted the prosecution, and Mr. C. K. Hall Brutton appeared for the first defendant.

Mr. Bowley in opening the case referred to the restrictions placed on Chinese entering Australia unless they had naturalisation papers or special permits. There had been many complaints from the Governments of the different States with regard to Chinamen trying to get in with false papers and, as a result, a trap had been laid by the police in which the first defendant was caught. Hau Tim was sent by the police to buy papers that would enable him to go into the Australian States, and on November 12 he went to a house in Connaught Road West, where the prisoners lived and carried on a business under the name of Chan Hop. He asked the first defendant if he could get papers that would admit him to Australia and the defendant replied "yes, if you have the money," and guaranteed that for $850 he would get him into Australia safely. The next day Hau Tim returned with money and, in the presence of the second defendant, paid Wong Chuk Yau $20 to bind the bargain, and the first defendant said that it would take some time to get the papers and that he would have to be photographed. Hau Tim accordingly accompanied the second defendant to a photographer's shop and paid $1.40 for having his photo taken, and later on the defendant secured two prints for which he paid 40 cents.

Owing to an objection raised by Mr. Brutton it was decided at this stage to take the charge of forgery separately. On November 18, Mr. Bowley continued, Hau Tim was sent to see the defendants again and asked them if the papers were ready when he paid the money. The following day he told the defendants that he had the money and the first defendant produced some papers from a cabinet and handed them to him and he in turn handed them to a classmate who had accompanied him, while he went down stairs and brought Chief Detective Inspector Hanson into the room and he took possession of the papers. There were found to contain 40 letters of naturalisation for the State of South Australia, issued to one Ah Wei and a photo of Hau Tim was attached to a piece of paper which would be shown to bear instructions how to use the naturalisation papers. By representing himself to be the man mentioned on the papers Hau Tim could have gone to one of the steamship Companies mentioned and purchased a passage ticket to Australia. Evidence was called and the case remanded until January 5.

RELIEF AFTER SIX YEARS.—Mrs. M. A. Clark, of Timberrange, N. S. W., Australia, writes: "I wish to inform you of the wonderful benefit I have received from your valuable medicine. I have suffered from a severe cough for six years and obtained no relief until I took Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. One bottle cured me and I am thankful to say that I have never had the cough since. Make any use of this letter that you like for the good of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Sold by all Dealers; Watson & Co., Ltd., General Agents."

THE INDUSTRIES OF HONGKONG.

THE STORING OF MERCHANDISE.

While writing of the Colony's industries no account would be complete which did not have reference to the work carried on by the Hongkong and Kowloon Wharf and Godown Company. Whileno a producing industry like those already noted, the Company nevertheless provides a large number of people with employment, and carries out very important functions in the handling and storing of the bulk of the numerous products of the world that find their way to Hongkong. Some of the goods are taken care of for a few days only, while others are stored for a considerable length of time; all require the care and attention of the Company's numerous staff, which has only been brought to its present state of efficiency by dint of much training and a considerable outlay on the part of the management. The Company also deserves special mention as one of the pillars of the Colony, that now populous residential area being a very different place from what it is at present when the Company commenced operations in 1869. Indeed the question of doing business at Kowloon was one of the initial difficulties and a considerable one, which the Company had to face. How it has overcome it, and the foresight of the promoters in taking up the site they did, is best testified to by the long row of godowns right on the sea front into which goods are continually pouring.

The position could not be bettered even had the selection been made after the Colony became an important portion of the Colony. Everyone who journeys to the other side of the harbour is familiar with the Company's premises, extending as they do along the Praya, in both directions from the ferry wharf. The truck lines by which the road is traversed are equally familiar, but it is perhaps not generally known that the lines, which are not always looked on as a blessing, are on a very narrow gauge. Such is the case and as the new Star Ferry Wharf is completed, this portion of the Praya will be closed to the public and used solely by the Company in the loading and unloading of cargo.

In writing of the Company's work there are not the numerous operations that are carried on in a factory; to detail, the sole business being, as a CHINA MAIL representative was informed by Mr. E. Osborne, Secretary to the Company, to take possession of goods from the ships which bring them into the harbour, sort them out and keep them until called for by their owners. This is a work that savours somewhat of nonentity, as the same operation goes on from day to day, but is full of troublesome details. In order to carry it out a staff of nearly 600 men are employed, and of these 300 are Chinese, the remainder being European staff, and all are kept busy throughout the year.

The Godowns are principally on the Kowloon side, those situated there being 32 in number, while there are nine at West Point and ten at Warehouse. The latter are, however, to be given up at the end of the year, and the business carried on there in the place known as Bombay Yard has been transferred to Kowloon. To state how the Company came to have godowns at Warehouse is to go back to the troubles in carrying on business on the Kowloon side; the Chinese Yarn Guild refused at that time to take delivery of cotton at Kowloon, hence the Warehouse godowns, but this, like many other early troubles, has been overcome. The business carried on at West Point is exclusively Chinese, and at Kowloon almost the whole of the European cargo and a great deal from other parts make a temporary resting place.

Most of the storerooms come up to the Kowloon wharves, and there are seven, and four small ones, on the Kowloon West Point. For such as lie out in the stream, however, a fleet of 58 lighters and six launches are provided and are always in readiness to take the cargo from the ship's side. The cargo, on being landed, is taken to the transit godown where it is kept for seven days and sorted out and ready for the owners when they apply for it. If it is to be stored it is then moved away to one of the numerous storage godowns and held until required. The storage capacity available at Kowloon is 355,000 tons, that at West Point is 100,000 tons, and that at Warehouse is 100,000 tons, a very miscellaneous collection of goods is continually left in the Company's charge.

To keep this in good order is a task of some magnitude and in this respect it is an important factor to contend against. These storerooms have been almost entirely occupied by a large army of cats which are kept to wage continual war upon them. In addition to this a regular sanitary staff is employed to look after the godowns and also the quarters of the large Chinese staff who were reconstituted, a large number of men were last year by the disease and some difficulty was experienced in keeping the staff together in consequence. Another difficulty was brought about by the continual changing of the Chinese premises; provided the early training ground for men, who, on learning the business, immediately obtained responsible positions with similar firms, here and at Singapore and Shanghai. The enforcing of the service, the boys working here have now returned to their homes, and the company is endeavouring to get a new staff. This plan has given good results and is expected to bear even better fruit as more boys pass through the teachers' hands.

In rebuilding after the recent disaster, the opportunity was taken to introduce many improvements, notable amongst which is the division of the godowns by a solid stone wall so that goods of a dangerous nature are now stored in a specially prepared place at the rear of the building. The capacity of the recently built godowns is 200,000 tons. The area occupied at Kowloon is 310,451 square feet. As soon as the new Star Ferry wharf is completed the bulk of the Praya facing the godowns will be closed to the public, the wharf being approached by a new road 100 feet wide. In passing it may be stated that the wharf is to be built on up-to-date lines and is to be provided with waiting rooms, bicycle sheds and other conveniences.

In conclusion we may say that in looking over the Company's map we noticed a site marked for the new markets which were promised by the Government some years ago. The absence of a market is one of the chief reasons why Chinese do not care to live at Tsimshatsui.

LONDON LETTER.

(From Our Correspondent.)

London, November 26.

The King of Portugal has had a most unpleasant fortnight of English weather, a week of fog and a week of frost; if next week gives him a thaw and a drizzling rain he will have seen something that it is worth leaving beautiful Lisbon to experience—just how vile the British climate can be. We seem in for a hard winter, with all the accompaniment of lack of employment, starvation and the ever-present housing question. The hard times are coming not on one industry but on all, and an appreciable increase in the price of sugar to-day is a significant indication of the distress that is before us. Sugar is of such physiological importance as a winter food, and enters into the manufacture of so many other foods that an enhancement of its price means wide-spread hardship. Still price is not everything. The Free Food doctrine of cheapness is not the true guide to national prosperity. Cheapness matters little to the point of view, and it is far more important to secure continuity of employment than to have a cheap loaf. The experiences of the coming winter will do somewhat to educate the electors in the knowledge that the closing of foreign markets and the rigid application of the Cobden policy in driving away our trade, are leading to disasters far worse than an increase in the price of food. We have before us at the forthcoming election an opportunity of changing our course of action, and substituting full employment for cheap food, with a substantial advantage to the race.

The French ministry seems tottering to its fall. It has shown too much of the sunny side of democracy. If all men were angels, or even if they were all enlightened patriots, there might be a possibility of Government by the counting of noses. But representative Government is so cumbersome that it necessitates wirepulling and wirepulling leads to even shadier deeds. A great political organisation like French Freemasonry (British Freemasonry is a very different thing and admittedly innocuous) lends itself so easily to a vast amount of the delusion that has led to the expulsion or resignation of General Andre. Even if the Combes ministry is bound to fall, it has done a vast amount of good to France and the world by the ratification of the Anglo-French agreement. There are one or two points still to be arranged, access to Lake Chad and the bait question in Newfoundland, but they will be settled amicably. An example has been set to the world and the highest honour is reflected on all concerned in the great treaty that has swept away the disputes of a century.

The question of physical deterioration has been lately so much discussed as to force itself on the attention of many who mistakenly think dietary discussions beneath contempt. Some few of us drink too much, but the scientists tell us, all who can afford to feed at all, eat too much. The effort to get rid of the excess leads to much waste of energy. We should be unwilling to resort to Dr. John Brown's famous heroic remedy, one meal a day and that "rather under." Some of the authorities are praising the Japanese dietary of bowls of rice with a flavouring of soups and fish and a quail instead of our national steak. One of the causes of distress is that the British working man is the most expensively fed of his class in the world, but there will be something of an uproar if his teachers and servants tell him to eat rice. One philosopher writes to the Times claiming to have done six hours work on a Japanese dinner, but it would be an experiment I should scarcely wish to try. I am sure that Mary Ann would not attempt it at the bidding of any single he.

We have heard a little too much of the controversy as to the purchase of the Standard by Mr. Pearson. It is no novelty to see a newspaper change its proprietorship. Do not some of us remember a time when Mr. W. T. Stead edited the Pall Mall Gazette and the still more conspicuous capture of the Daily News by the chocolate people for the pro-boers. One supposes that the controversy is engineered by Mr. Pearson himself for advertising purposes. The genius which Sir George Newnes failed to appreciate in its true value is capable of clearing up things that in the present dispute is that Mr. Winston Churchill wrote a letter inveighing against the inquiry of one man owning many newspapers, and then sent it to the Daily Mail!

BY WHARF AND WAVE.

H. M. S. Vengeance left to-day for Miff Day.

The U. S. cruiser Cincinnati, 3,213 tons, arrived to-day from Cavite.

An attempt is being made to establish a new line of steamers running via Japan, China, Siam, and Manila to Java, India, and Ceylon, the steamers also connecting with San Francisco.

In yesterday's issue it was stated that the Orizaba, on which a steam pipe burst and killed several passengers, was a P. and O. steamer. That was a mistake. As a matter of fact she is one of the Orient Company's steamers.

Hongkong harbour seems to furnish the local journals with quite a quantity of "copy," and it is seldom that one takes up a Hongkong paper without noting some item of interest concerning that busy cosmopolitan shipping centre. So says the Kobe Chronicle.

The hospital ship Rohilla when leaving Miji for Ujina on Dec. 10 was carried along by the strong current and collided with the Manushu-maru at anchor. The Manushu was considerably damaged forward, but the Rohilla had two large holes made on the water-line on her port side, and had to be stranded to avoid sinking. The Rohilla had previously landed a complement of sick and wounded, and was bound for Ujina for further orders.

On Dec. 17 in the Kobe Chihō Satsuboshō, judgment was given in favour of the defendant in the action instituted by Mr. M. Tanaka, an Osaka merchant, against Mr. Matt. Smith as representing Messrs. Dowell & Co., Ltd., Kobe. The plaintiff's claim was a sum of Yen 7,350, value of certain goods brought by the defendant company's steamer. Plaintiff alleged that in October 1902 he ordered certain goods which were brought to Japan by the steamer Yoshingawa maru. The ship took fire when on her way from Shanghai to Kobe and was beached, the goods being disposed of at auction as damaged. Plaintiff maintained that having ordered the cargo he found that his goods were damaged, and he therefore instituted his claim for loss involved by the sale of the goods as damaged cargo.

A new record in the stevedoring business in the Orient has been established. Captain W. E. Sherman, the well-known stevedore, started to discharge the Indra on December 17, and succeeded in completing the job on the evening of the 24th, says the Cable News of Manila. The Indra contained 6,200 tons of coal, showing an average of 88.7 tons of coal a day discharged. The largest amount discharged in one day was 1160 tons, yesterday. Previous to this the Elvis Craig, also discharged by Mr. Sherman, held the record at 935 tons. Mr. Sherman said yesterday afternoon that no native labour was employed on the Indra contract; Chinamen alone did the work, and the record shows their efficiency. It is safe to say that this record will stand for some time.

Nothing further has been heard of the steamer Legaspi, now seven days overdue, says the Manila Observer of December 25. Irribar and Co., the agents, still hope for favorable news of her at any moment. The Naval, commanded by Captain Prédoux, a mariner of long experience in these waters, undoubtedly reached the Maclefield bank, which is less than 300 miles from Manila, yesterday, and if she did not pick up the Legaspi there, is properly in the neighborhood of the Searcher reef this morning. The office of the agents is still thronged with people anxious to learn of her fate. At the office of the coast guard the expectation seemed to be that the Naval would very shortly reappear here, with the steamer in tow.

A naval inquiry was held at the British Consulate at Yokohama on Dec. 21 into the cause of the stranding of the British steamship Inverness at Maroran, on Nov. 25 and the Court found that the stranding was due to the vessel being taken on a course imprudently close to the west shore of Maroran harbour. The casualty was due to the wrongful act of the master, but, having regard to all the circumstances of the case, more particularly to the fact that the damage done was slight—so far as is known the hull is undamaged—the Court does not deal with his certificate, but cautions him to be more careful in future. It appears from the master's evidence that he has been in poor health for a year past and that the Inverness passed from Tacoma and the subsequent events have shaken his nerves, and he has expressed a desire to retire from his present command. The other officers and the crew were found free from blame. The Master of the Inverness was ordered to pay costs, £5 5s.

On December 21 the well-known author Curlew commenced a voyage to Shania, via Miff Day, and had a rather rough time of it, as the following extracts from her log will show. The vessel was prepared for the cruise and started at night on December 21, being provisioned for six days. It had previously been agreed that portion of her party should sail round while the rest would join her by going overland on December 23. On going on board the sailing party found their No. 2 boy had deserted, but as the weather forecast was favourable heated the sails and weighed anchor, with the aid of a man-of-war crew, and beat out to Potomac Pass in the moonlight. The following morning the pass was sailed through with a good North wind blowing; which increased in force and resulted in a heavy spar being carried away. By 10 a.m. the wind and sea were increasing, and although the forecast was double reefed and three reefs were taken in the mainsail, water was shipped freely. The dingy had been hoisted on the davits and on account of an extra heavy pitch fell and broke the starboard falls. The other falls were released and she immediately filled and would have sunk but for the

No. 1 who bailed her out. The voyage was continued with her in tow. In this manner Comie Island was passed on the beam at 12.15 p.m., the weather being still heavy and the yacht shipping water freely. While on the port tack the forecast went by the board, being carried away exactly in halves. The helms was put down and all hands set about clearing away the wreckage, and as the boat fell away were drenched with spray. The yacht had commenced to drift to leeward but was got to run before the wind by the dingy's sail being rigged on the stump of the forecast, and a course was steered back for Potomac. The ensign was hoisted reversed, but attracted only the curiosity of the crews of passing junks. Potomac was passed and the adventures of the cruise appeared to be ended when one of the yachtsmen went on deck to find Cape Collinson light right above them, and he only succeeded in letting go the starboard anchor in time to bring up 60 yards from the rocks. The launch Victoria was attracted by blowing the foghorn and the anchor having been got up with some difficulty she towed the yacht back into the harbour where she spent Xmas. The yachtsmen were on shore just in time to prevent the polestar section of the party setting out for Shania.

SUICIDE ON H.M.S. 'WHITING.'

The Lieutenant-Commander.

A sad tragedy occurred on board the torpedo boat Whiting this morning, when it was discovered that Lieutenant-Commander Jellicoe, the officer commanding the vessel, had committed suicide. The tragedy was discovered shortly before 6 o'clock when the Lieutenant's body was found lying in his cabin with a bullet wound in the head. There was a weapon with which the wound had apparently been inflicted lying in the cabin, and all indications point to a case of suicide.

WEATHER REPORT.

The following notice is issued by the Hongkong Observatory:—

On the 30th at 11.45 a.m. The barometer has risen considerably over the interior of China and fallen slightly in Japan and over parts of the Pacific. The anticyclone lying over Central China has thus become more marked, and gradients upon the coast are in consequence steeper. Strong N.W. monsoon will be met with in the Formosa Channel and to the northward and strong N. to N.E. winds in the northern part of the China Sea. Forecast:—Strong N. to N.E. winds, fine.

Yokoama Assault Case.

The Japan Asahi says that Mr. S. H. Kuhn, who was recently sentenced to 15 months' major imprisonment for having assaulted and injured Mr. F. S. Boyes, filed an appeal in the Tokio Court of Appeal, through his Counsel, Mr. Ideura, on the 24th instant, against decision given in the Yokohama District Court. An action was simultaneously instituted in the Yokohama Court by Mr. Kuhn against Mr. Boyes on the ground that the latter had committed adultery.
